Cable controlled, easy to use, original firewall mount style is no longer available. Best alternative we could find, also used in A/C

Recirculating heaters (face shown) used a 2 hole bracket and the water circulated constantly unless you got out and turned it off under the hood, "yuck"! You can see the radiator core through the face. Side louvers were covered, see our #1938 next page. Defrost was cable controlled.

Fresh air heaters were "driver friendly" 4 hole bracket included cable to control water valve and fresh air was scooped in through louvers on passenger cowl. See our #1939 next page, Both heaters used same heater core.
